Mail distribution goes through GET requests for quick distribution of large volumes of letters 100,000 thousand, 200,000 thousand.\n==\nThis is a children's option - any mail server will immediately shut down such activity. Here in this article https://ericdraken.com/headless-chrome-vpn-docker/ describes a working variant - you will need to create thousands of such docker containers and send only 10 emails from each mail account, sent by an emulator with AI that simulates mouse movements, similar to human ones. each mailer now has an AI, it recognizes all movements in the browser and over get-requests for sending hundreds of thousands of letters to their AI it will be
